PINCHOT OUTLINES PROBLEMS BEFORE SOLONS

Gen. Shannon Fears United States Entered World War In Vain

Lieut. Governor Speaks At Armistice Day Meeting
In Cathedral

Tri-County Celebration In New Castle Is Most Successful

Carrying on with that same indomitable spirit, which carried them to the heights of greatness in 1917 and 1918, hundreds of World War veterans gathered here Saturday to celbrate the 15th anniversary of the signing of the Armistice, which terminated that great struggle in Europe.

They refused to allow the worst weather conditions ever experienced on an Armistice Day to quench their spirit or dampen their ardor, and completed the day's program without a hitch.

New Castle entertained one of the most distinguished war heroes at its celebration that it has possibly been her privilege to receive, General Edward C. Shannon, Commander of the Pennsylvania National Guard, and one of the outstanding leaders of the 28th Division during the World War, a man whose name is now receiving favorable mention for the next governance of the state.

General Shannon, the speaker of the day, in his address at The Cathedral in the evening charged that for America, the World War had apparently been waged in vain, for not one of the ideals for which the country went into the war had been realized.

He urged that more adequate care be taken of the disabled men of the war, whose plight grows worse each year.

Following the parade Saturday morning, the veterans and their friends repaired to Taggart Field, where the bugle and drum corps contest was carried out in the midst of rain, sleet and snow, the Sharps-burg V. F. W. corps winning first honors over the Grove City American Legion outfit. The judges were Attorney W. J. Moffatt, W. A.
Hoffmaster and William E. Perver.

The contest was a little late in

PA NEWS OBSERVES

Pa News is informed that the Boy Scouts set an example for the veterans and others in the parade to the Cathedral on Saturday. A large part of those who went to the Cathedral cut across the lawn to reach the building, but of all of the Scouts entering, not one cut across the lawn. Pa News is informed by a spectator. It was a fine exhibition by the Scouts, the spectator reports.

If weather conditions continue through the balance of the month as they have since the start, some of the deficiency in rainfall which has been noted this year, will be gained back. Precipitation has occurred on ten of the thirteen days of the month so far.

A group of High School students was making preparations for an Armistice Day program last week.
One of the students, turning to another, remarked: "Would you believe it, there are teachers here that can remember when the World War was." What a difference a few years makes to a young person.

Introduces Bill For City To Take Boulevard Site

Councilman Stanley Treser introduced in council today a bill which permits the New Castle Street Electric Railway company to abandon certain franchise obligations here in exchange for the city giving to the city a quit claim deed to that portion of land, formerly a right of way of the company, between Hamilton street, through Shenango township, to Cascade park.

The company will be allowed to abandon their track in West Washington street and west of the west line of Beaver street. The city will be given the rails.

The bill was sent to committee and reported out favorably and has been sent to the printing office pending final passage.

The city has improved all but a small portion of the land to be acquired and in time it will be used as a highway between the south side, through Cascade park to East Washington street extension.

WILL ROGERS says:

(Special To The News)
BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Nov.
13.—Just been talking today out here to all the senators investigating these stock swindles and overcapitalization. There has been millions, and hundreds of millions lost. There ought to be some form of guardianship for people that buy all this junk.

Get chambers of commerce, clubs, priests, preachers (don't get school teachers, for they say they are the biggest suckers).
Education won't do it, for they say less than 5 per cent of these sales are made to people who can't read or write. It's the ones we have educated up till they are just smart enough to fall for everything that comes along.

Yours,
Will Rogers

trict, and his wife, the former Elinor Smith, famous aviatrix, are photographed in their New York home, following the revelation that they had the marriage a secret, even from their friends, because of the election.

statesman".

Meadville Youth Wounds Girl And Commits Suicide

Miss Pauline Boyles of Sae-gertown, Pa., Is Expected To Recover

HAD QUARRELED AT DANCE HALL

(International News Service)
MEADVILLE, Pa., Nov. 13.—Miss Pauline Boyles, 16, of near Saegertown today was expected to recover from bullet wounds inflicted by her youthful escort who, police reported afterwards, turned the gun on himself.

Jealousy, authorities believed, drove David Leberman, 18-year-old Meadville youth, to allegedly fire upon his girl companion and then fatally wound himself while they were returning from an Armistice Day military ball.

Quarreled at Dance.

The shooting is said to have taken place at the rear of the Leberman home after Miss Boyles had put up a tussle with the victim for possession of a revolver. Police said they were told the act grew out of a quarrel over a dance the girl had given at the ball to a "former boy friend".

The youth was a foster-son of Mr.
and Mrs. L. L. Leberman. Leberman is a prominent western Pennsylvania political leader, having at one time sought a seat in the state assembly in addition to having held the chairmanship of the Crawford county Democratic committee.

Denial Made That Japanese Planes Were Shot Down

Both Soviet And Japanese Officials Deny Truth Of Report Of Six Planes

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, Nov. 13.—The Soviet press, public and officialdom, deeply engrossed in the progress of recognition negotiations in Washington, found time today to ridicule and deplore the fake report, published in the United States on Saturday, of the shooting down of six Japanese airplanes in Siberia.

TOKYO, Nov. 13.—Speculation was rife in official circles here today over the action of Soviet censors in passing a false report on Saturday that six Japanese airplanes had been shot down in Siberia.

Japanese officials gave no credence whatever to the report, and brief summaries published only a company the body to Marietta O.
where burial will take place. The body was expected to arrive there this forenoon.

Coast Officers Are Baffled By Kidnaping Gang

Fail To Find Any Important Cues In Kidnaping Of Brooke L. Hart

(International News Service)

SAN JOSE, Cal., Nov. 13.—Detectives had only one clue today in the mysterious kidnaping case of Brooke L. Hart, 22, son of Alex J.
Hart, wealthy San Jose department store president.

Young Hart disappeared at 6 o'clock Thursday night after he had entered his automobile to keep an appointment with his father at a country club.

A few hours later the kidnapers telephoned and demanded $40,000 ransom.

Capt. of Inspectors Charles Dullea of San Francisco declared the case has several circumstances which make it a puzzle.

"The only definite clue we have so far," said Dullea, "is the finding of the Hart boy's wallet on the guard rail of the oil tanker Midway Friday after she had fueled the liner Lurline at pier 32. That means, of course, that either young Hart was at that pier after his disappearance Thursday night, or some one was there who had the last actual contact with him."

Son Of Governor Of Ohio Dies In Automobile Crash

Princeton Officials Are Probing Fatal Crash Near Belle-mead, N. J.

(International News Service)

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 13.—Officials today were investigating a week-end fatality which cast gloom over the Princeton campus in the wake of a football victory over Dartmouth Saturday.

Robert White, 21-year-old senior at Princeton and son of Gov. George White of Ohio, was fatally injured when the automobile in which he and two companions were driving to New York City left the road near Bellemead, N. J., hit a tree, overturning and shot back onto the highway.

White's companions, Miss Evelyn Higgins, 20, of Rochester, N. Y., and Goodrich Lowry, 21, of New York
City, were injured.

Both Lowry and Miss Higgins said they had been doing before the crash and were unable to say what caused the crash. Other motorists told police they saw the car skid while travelling at a high rate of speed. White and Lowry were thrown from the car, the former striking the tree and dying instantly.

Arrest Natale In Ohio Crime

Seventh Ward Man Held As Suspect In Struthers
Slaying

FATAL FRACAS

ABOUT WEEK AGO

Frank Natale, about 41, seventh ward, this city, is held in the city jail here on a warrant issued by Police Chief H. D. Davis of Struthers, O., in connection with the death of Steve Tommaso, 41, at Struthers.
It is alleged Tommaso was stabbed fatally November 4 at Struthers and died November 5 in a Youngstown hospital. Natale has retained Attorney Samuel Clark as counsel. He has not yet waived extradition.

Natale was arrested at Mercer and Washington streets here Sunday
by Patrolmen Harper and Suber, and when taken to the city police station refused to discuss the charges. Today Attorney Clark said that if the Struthers, O., authorities had affidavits to substantiate the charges against his client he would allow Natale to return to Ohio without extradition.

Trouble at Struthers

According to the story told by Chief Davis, who came here last night in an effort to have Natale return without extradition papers,
Steve Tommaso was in a home in Capital

Assemblymen W. J. Eroo, Jr., and William McElwee, Jr., of the first and second Lawrence county districts respectively left for Harrisburg on Sunday to attend the opening of the special session of the General Assembly which took place

Shortly after the opening Governor Gifford Pinchot addressed a joint session of the House and Senate in which he laid before the members his plan for liquor control and other matters of importance.

The call for the special session includes a number of questions that will undoubtedly develop into a controversy. While there has been an urge for a short and inexpensive session the questions to be solved present a number of angles that may keep the members there until at least Christmas.

Russo-American Parley Reaches Bargaining Stage

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The momentous Russo-American conversations today reached the bargaining stage.

From now on, President Roosevelt and Maxim Litvinoff, the shrewd Soviet foreign commissar, will engage in a game of give and take. The two conferred for nearly two hours last night at the White House but no detail of the discussions was reported.

The stakes are, on the one hand, enhancement of Soviet prestige by American recognition and, on the other, expansion of American trade in industrialized Russia.

No Problems Disposed Of.

Whether this game will advance sufficiently rapid and satisfactorily for American recognition to be granted the Soviet union by the end of this week was described in authoritative quarters as uncertain.

The c.-versatic, so far have been confined primarily to an exchange of views. None of the important problems have been disposed of.

In the state department conversations, the American officials reviewed with Litvinoff a voluminous memorandum containing the American position on all the outstanding questions between the two nations which would indicate the Soviet position. The questions on which harmony appeared to exist were checked off and relegated to on pile. Those on which there appeared a difference of opinion were set aside for discussion between the president and Litvinoff.

Controversies Are Foreseen
On Many Of Ideas Ad-

HARRISBURG, Nov. 13.— Gavels fell in the house at noon today marking the official opening of Pennsylvania's 1933 special session of the general assembly. The senate convened at 12:01.

Gov. Gifford Pinchot's 13-point proclamation comprising nearly two score subjects, many of them controversial and "left-overs" of the regular session last winter, was read.

Immediately thereafter the regular legislative procedure got underway pending the appearance of the chief executive for delivery of his address before a point meeting of both bodies a little later in the afternoon.

The governor's expressed intention of disregarding politics and making possible a "short, inexpensive" session was endorsed again today by Edward Martin, Republican state chairman. Martin informed a Republican caucus "political and controversial subjects should be left for the regular session of 1935."

Pinchot Seeks Harmony

Harrisburg, Nov. 13.—Stepping

asked legislators this afternoon to "let politics go hang" and join him in giving Pennsylvania a kaleidoscopic program of legislation, "fully, effectively and promptly."

He voiced a plea that the extraornoon for consideration of liquor and variety of subjects, be brief and harmonious, and pledged himself to leave nothing undone to make it so.

(International News Service)

HAZLETON, Pa., Nov. 13.—An-year-old daughter and then took his own life with a gun here today.

After murdering his daughter,
Mrs. Rose Mahola, mother of a 10-months' old child, while she lay asleep on a bed, Wassila turned the gun on himself before his wife entered the room.

Police were unable to advance any motive for the murder and suicide.
They checked reports that Wassila killed his daughter because she was subject to spells of illness.

Authorities attempted to communicate with Mrs. Mahola's husband who is in New York. County Detective Richard Powell said it was a clear case of murder and suicide.

HITLER GIVEN BACKING OF GERMANY

Sunday Election Result Decisive

Hitler To Embark On New And More Nationalistic Program

AIM OF PROGRAM IS NOT REVEALED

By HUDSON HAWLEY
International News Service Staff Correspondent
BERLIN, Nov. 13.—Having formally won the virtually unanimous backing of the German nation in one of history's unique elections, Adolf Hitler prepared today to embark on a new and supposedly more nationalistic program, both at home and abroad.

Just what this would be was uncertain, but two pointed remarks were made, one by Hitler himself and one by L. R. Paul Joseph Goebbels, his minister of propaganda, even before the final ballots were counted.

Hitler Statement.
Hitler, in a formal statement thanking the nation for the terrific vote they placed behind him, said: "The rescue of the Fatherland will be your compensation."

This was in the spirit of the pre-election patriotic campaign appeal to "fight for Germany's honor" in a battle to erase all memory of Germany's defeat in the war and of the "dishonor" in the subsequent treaty of Versailles.

Goebbels, addressing the members of the ministry, said: "The election victory places a great responsibility on our shoulders. As a result of the plebiscite the government will embark on new policies in both foreign and domestic affairs."

Celebrate Victory.
All official buildings today displayed flag in celebration of the "overwhelming victory." The alert minister of propaganda, headed by Dr. Goebbels, urged the entire public to join the victory celebration.

With the ballot phase of Hitler's fight for "equality for Germany" ended in this smashing fashion, the next move was left in the hands of the chancellor himself. Whatever he does, he will be able to point to virtually all of Germany as being behind him.

The former Kaiser, Wilhelm II, living at Doorn, Holland, did not vote, but there were eight votes cast by Doorn residents, presumably by members of the Kaiser's household. These people voted in the railway station at Frankfurt-Am-Main.

Among the deputies elected to the Reichstag was Prince August Wilhelm, son of the ex-Kaiser.

Al Smith Will Meet President For Short Talk

Hatchet Appears Buried As Al Smith Plans Visit To White House To See Roosevelt

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Al Smith is going to visit President Roosevelt at the White House tomorrow for a general talk.

The former governor of New York is coming to the capital to attend the annual meeting of the trustees of Catholic University here, and will "drop in" on the president informally, it was learned today.

Considerable interest attaches to Smith's call at the White House. It will be his first since the Roosevelt administration came in on the fourth of last March. Smith attended the inauguration as part of the New York delegation and paraded down Pennsylvania Avenue with the rest, but did not call at the White House.

He and Mrs. Roosevelt exchanged waves as he passed the reviewing stand.

Their last meeting was in New York some weeks ago at a Catholic charities dinner. They greeted each other cordially on that occasion.

In his recent magazine writings, Smith has injected rather a critical note concerning some of the administration's policies.

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 13.—Burgess Judd C. Turner of this city was paid fitting tribute by the people of Ellwood City and vicinity Saturday night when they assembled at the Shelby auditorium to hear a grand operatic concert in his honor.

The program featured orchestra and vocal music by well known stars of Pittsburgh and New York. A capacity crowd attended the concert.

One of the features was a special song dedicated to Burgess Turner. Many notables of the district were present on the occasion.

Joe Zona of this city was general chairman of this affair.

Plan To Close Steps Entrance On Viaduct

Upon suggestion of Director of Parks and Buildings L. G. Genkinger, council, which met in session today, referred to Solicitor White a request of the P. & L. E. railroad to be allowed to construct a guard rail along a small portion of the Gardner avenue viaduct.

There is a stairway from the Gardner avenue viaduct to the old Gardner avenue station. The station has been abandoned and the company wishes to place the guard rail on the viaduct, which will close access to any person using it.

The solicitor will inform the company, he said, that the city will not oppose this providing the public service commission does not, as the bridge was built upon specific orders issued by the commission.

Another fault of the times is that you can't ride up and down Main street in a paid-up grocery bill.

getting started, due to the adverse weather conditions, but was concluded in ample time to allow the football game between New Castle and Butler high schools to get started on schedule.

Shannon Arrives
In the midst of the game, General Edward C. Shannon, Lieutenant Governor of Pennsylvania and Commander of the Pennsylvania National Guard, accompanied by Col. W. W. Gill, of Pittsburgh, his adjutant during the World War, together with the members of his party, arrived at the stadium and were escorted to seats which had been placed for them on a platform along the sidelines near the south goal. As he took his place the guns of the Headquarters Battery, 107th Field Artillery, boomed out a salute.

General Shannon had been met in Pittsburgh by a group of local citizens and war veterans, and was brought to New Castle in the car of Fred L. Rentz, the party stopping at Zellenoople for lunch.

Following the football game, General Shannon was escorted to The Castleton by Troop F., 103rd Cavalry, where a reception was held by members of the old 28th Division in which organization he had commanded the 55th Infantry brigade during the World War.

Annual Dinner Held
This was followed by the annual Armistice Day dinner in The Castleton, which was attended by 180 veterans and a few of their friends from this city.

Fletcher presided as chairman of the evening, and introduced Major Guy J. Wadlinger as the toastmaster. Informally reigned at the dinner, just as it has at all the past gatherings of this group a sort of "last man's club" for the founders of the idea have pledged themselves to carry on, as long as they are able to get together.

Dave Tobin was elected chairman of next year's dinner at a brief business meeting of the group, after which the toastmaster introduced the distinguished guests who were present for the occasion.

These included: Judges R. L. Hilbrand and James A. Chambers, Major Charles B. Mayne, councilman C. J. Davies, A. A. Hoyland, W. B. Genkinger, W. Stanley, Treasurer, County Commissioner P. O. Elder, Frank Wood, and Elmer C. Conner, Commander D. A. Clark of the G. A. R. post, Assemblyman W. J. Eroe, Sheriff-elect Edward C. Pritchard, former state senators George T. Weingartner and R. L. Wallace, Charles H. Young, a veteran of the Spanish American and World Wars, Michael Kane, of Alleghenue, Captain J. B. Mechlin, of Beaver Falls, Geo. Lawrence, county treasurer of Mercer county, County Treasurer William L. Pitts, Fred L. Rentz, Congressman J. Howard Swick, County Controller R. C. McCaslin, Col. W. W. Gill, of Pittsburgh, Louis B. Round, general chairman of the Armistice Day celebration, Prothonotary Ralph M. Campbell, R. L. Boyd, commander of the Perry S. Gaston Post, American Legion; Geo. Christoph, commander of the Harry L. McBride Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Col. Dan H. McQuiston, chief marshal of the parade, Major W. F. Jackson, chief of staff and Lieut. John D. Kennedy, adjutant.

Efforts of General Chairman Round in making the day the success it turned out to be.

General Edward C. Shannon was then introduced by the toastmaster, Major Wadlinger referring to him as "Five-yard" Shannon as he was only five yards behind his men in the thick of battle against the Germans in France.

Laud Jimmy Fletcher.
General Shannon expressed his pleasure at being able to attend such a splendid gathering, and praising the men for the idea of carrying out such a project each year. He paid a tribute to Jimmy Fletcher, the chairman of the evening, whom he cited as a splendid example of the way the boys of the World War have carried on, no matter what their infirmities or difficulties.

No nation can prosper that does not take full recognition of the debt it owes its soldiers," he said, and predicted that the special session of the legislature would provide the way for paying the bonus voted the Pennsylvania veterans at the recent election.

Fep singing during the dinner was led by George Jones. One of the features was the stirring address of John McKibben, who called attention to the acts of valor of the World War.

Following the dinner, the veterans there assembled repaired to the Cathedral, where the program of the evening was carried out, concluding with the dance in the ballroom.

Evening Program.
General Shannon, in his address, said in part: "Fifteen years ago, the order to cease firing brought to an end one of the bloodiest and most widespread wars in all history, a war characterized by hatreds more intense than had marked any since the beginning of time. It completely disrupted and

BURNS HEALED Without A Scar

"My sister was burned last winter when putting coal oil on a dead-end fire and the flames burst out into her face. We used nothing but San-Cura Ointment and in almost an incredibly short time her face was perfectly healed without a scar. It is the finest thing for burns that I have ever seen. Have also used it for other things. Just lately an infected toe and shortly it was healed."

TO THE VOTERS
It is fitting that some expression of appreciation and good will be shown by a successful candidate to those who supported him during the primary and election period. It is impossible to do this personally; therefore this is the quickest and clearest method of conveying to my friends and neighbors sincere thanks for their loyalty and friendship during the campaign just closed.

There is but one way to repay them for their interest and aid: To do the duty assigned me honestly, faithfully. This I promise.

STOP THAT COLD

THE FIRST DAY!

A cold once rooted is a cold of danger! Trust to no makeshift methods. A cold, being an internal infection, calls for internal treatment. A cold also calls for a COLD remedy and not a preparation good for a number of other things as well. Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is what a cold requires. It is expressly a cold remedy. It is internal and direct—and it does the four things necessary. It opens the bowels, combats the cold germs and fever in the system, relieves the headache and grippy feeling and tones and fortifies the entire system. Anything less than that is inviting trouble. Get Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine at any drugstore, 30c and 50c. Ask for it by the full name and accept no substitute on any pretext.

COLLEGE CLUB TO HAVE GUEST NIGHT

The regular monthly meeting of College Club will be held in the Y. W. C. A. green room Tuesday evening, Nov. 14, at eight o'clock. This promises to be a very special and interesting meeting and will be in the form of an anniversary party. A program in keeping with the occasion has been arranged.

The club's annual "guest night" will be observed at the same time. Mrs. Paris Shoaf is chairwoman of the program committee and hostesses include Miss Thelma Howell, Miss Sara Dinsmore, Miss Frances Haydon, Miss Gertrude Chapin, Miss Ola Rogers and Miss Agnes Webster.

MR. AND MRS. M. PORTER OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

A pretty event of Saturday evening was the observation of their silver wedding anniversary by Mr. and Mrs. Mayo R. Porter, 147 East Wallace avenue, when they entertained relatives and friends most informally.

After the couple had received the felicitations of the group, bingo and bridge formed the pastimes of the hours and many lovely gifts of remembrance were presented Mr. and Mrs. Porter.

A most appetizing repast was served from a prettily appointed table by the daughters of the couple, Mrs. Norman Shaffer and Mrs. Glenn McCreary, assisted by Mrs. Harry Riblett and Mrs. George Lotstetter.

SCHOOL TEACHERS AND SPECIAL SESSION

THERE is one problem that will come before the special session of the Pennsylvania state legislature, convening at Harrisburg, today, which is as vital as any other to Lawrence county; the matter of aid to distressed school districts.

Here in Lawrence county in adjoining districts are school teachers who have been heroically sticking to their posts, and carrying on, during the depression years, who in some instances are months back on their salaries. Reductions were made in the salaries, and even with this economy, some of the districts have been unable to meet their obligations to their teachers. But the teachers have carried on with a spirit that is most commendable.

It is high time that the state takes cognizance of this situation, and comes to the aid of these sorely pressed districts. With the millions being handed out in doles to the needy, and with the prospects of handing out something like fifty million dollars in bonuses to the veterans in the next few years, certainly the state should look after this obligation to the schools.

The legislative call of Governor Pinchot carries a provision for action on relief of these distressed school districts, and the legislature should push action that would meet this crisis.

The public schools must be maintained at all cost.

VOTE ON THE STATE AMENDMENTS

Perhaps sixty per cent of the persons who went to the polls on Tuesday took the time to vote on the twelve proposed amendments to the State Constitution.

Since an amendment may win or lose on a bare majority of the ballots actually cast for or against it, the fact becomes patent that little more than one fifth of the duly qualified citizens might determine its fate. This is possible because of the general apathy. A referendum on such abstract theories as the long-and-short-haul doctrine in transportation certainly lacks dramatic appeal compared with a contest of personalities.

Pennsylvania, along with many other states, notably New York, has absorbed too many minor details in its Constitution. The organic law thus sacrifices flexibility. If proper provision were made for leaving these secondary matters to the statutes a Constitution would not so rapidly go out of date. Continual patching to accord with every whim of social and economic change, without waiting to discover whether it is to be enduring or merely transitory, ought to be unnecessary. In sixty years Pennsylvania has formally ratified forty-four amendments to the Constitution of 1874. In the same period the Federal document has been modified only five times and only ten times in the 144 years since the Bill of Rights was incorporated in it.

If we are verging toward a new State Constitution, as seems likely at the moment, it ought to be drafted with the idea of furnishing a set of general guiding principles of broad scope, leaving to the legislature and the courts the duty of settling matters of limited importance.

CHICAGO JUSTICE?

There is something in a little incident reported from Chicago which public leaders seeking the cause of America's crime wave might ponder. It relates to justice as it is understood by Chicago judges and officials.

In 1928, the home of Mrs. Clara Alt was burglarized. The supposed burglars were arrested. Twenty times their trial has been scheduled to begin only to be postponed each time. Mrs. Alt anxious to contribute her part to the carrying out of justice, was on hand each time to testify.

Then, the other day, came the twenty-first time for the case to be called. Mrs. Alt was absent. She had been appointed to a woman's committee to welcome Mrs. Roosevelt to the world's fair. She performed this duty instead of going to court where, she well may have believed, she again would not be called to testify.

But such indifference was resented by the judge. An officer was sent out to find Mrs. Alt. He did, and she was brought into court and fined $10.

This is justice in Chicago.
Is it any wonder that crime flourishes there to perhaps a greater extent than in any American city?

WHY EAT CROW?
NO, THANK YOU, I'm not having any crow today. No, really, I'd rather not. I'm not hungry and, besides, I never eat crow. Yes, I know, some people do, and some of them seem to like it. But not me, not me. . . . Again I thank you and again and again, but no crow for me.

It's too tough and bony and you chew and you chew and you chew, but you never get anywhere. And the pin feathers are like phonograph needles and the taste is horrible. It's just like remorse, crow is, and that's why I don't like it. . . . And that's what people mean when they say you must eat crow. . . . You've done something wrong, and you've been caught at it. So you should apologize, you should say you're sorry, and do something distasteful to make amends for your wickedness. Eat crow, in fact.

But not me. I'm not having any. I promised my mother I wouldn't. The doctor told me it wouldn't agree with me. . . . And did you ever see a flock of crows hanging round a farmer's field with sentinels posted on all the corner posts. Chattering, flapping, looking so wise and malicious, acting so human. Eating crow would seem something like cannibalism, like chewing on yourself.

In fact, eating crow is a form of cannibalism. You're unhappy, so you feed on yourself and make a melancholy spectacle that's more distasteful than anything. . . . Have you read Lewis Bromfield's "The Farm"? Well, there's a man in that novel who is always eating crow. Strange fellow, half pagan and half Puritan, with about 19 children and a wife who understands him entirely. . . . He isn't "faithful" to her. He wanders desperately, but always comes back to her, remorseful and gnawing bitterly on his soul. And she writes home that his remorse is harder to bear than his philandering. She can stand the unfaithfulness, but the remorse is a heavy burden.

And I know how she felt because I feel that way, too. . . . I'm in favor of decent regret and a fair number of good resolutions and determinations to change one's ways. . . . But I'm not in favor of this slavish sobbing, moaning, fearful, messy, spectacular, public eating of crow. Not for you. Not for anybody. And not for me. . . . I'd rather have spinach, egg-plant, or rattlesnake.

A Virginia Judge avers that once when he was roaming the backwoods he came upon a ball game between two teams of pickaninnies. "What's the score lad?" asked the Judge.

"Nineteen to nuthin', favor them, suh," said the boy.

"My," the Judge exclaimed; "you're been beaten rather badly, aren't you?"

"No, suh," piped the boy. "We ain't bin to bat yit."

Children of today are more able to take care of themselves on the streets and highways than their parents according to the Carolina Motor club's survey based on a study of the years of 1922 and 1930.

There was an actual decrease in the number of fatalities among children from five to nine but a slight increase in the number between the ages of nine and 14. Increases in casualties ranged from 117 per cent to as high as 173 in the older age groups.

It is thought that the decrease in the child casualty rate is directly responsible to the schoolboy traffic patrols and to the safety campaigns carried on in the schools.

KNOW ANY BETTER?

Dog lovers may shed a tear over the devotion and faithfulness of Lightnin', a dog belonging to R. M. Condon of Adena, Ohio, who reports this exploit of his canine.

When I was a boy of about 15 years of age I had a wonderful coon hound, named Lightnin'.

One autumn night I, with two other boys, set out to try to bag a coon. Nothing happened until about 11 o'clock. Then the hound struck a trail and started out with the three of us following closely. Soon, however, he got so far ahead in the deep woods that we could not even hear him barking. We called and whistled for the dog, but he did not return. We went home thinking he would be there by the time we arrived. It proved to be a mistaken idea for by the next morning there was no sign of him; neither did I learn anything of his whereabouts by telephoning the neighbors and inserting an ad in the paper. A month passed and I was by then convinced Lightnin' had met with an accident and would never be seen again.

With coon hunting season coming on again I missed my dog more than ever and went to the spot in the woods where we had last seen him on that fateful night. I had an idea and determined to carry it out. "I will just pretend," I said to myself, "that I am a hound after a coon. I'll walk on all fours and see where the trail will take me."

After going about two miles in this tiresome position I found Lightnin'. There he was, standing on his hind legs, his two forepaws against the tree about five feet from the ground and with his eyes fixed on a coon that had run up the tree.

To be sure the faithful dog was dead, having starved to death at his post of duty. The buzzards had eaten all the flesh from his bones, and the only way I could positively identify him was by the collar. While I deeply regretted the untimely death of such a valuable dog, I was glad that my perseverance had shown to me at last the true worth of Lightnin'.

And the coon? It had starved, too. Its skeleton was still on the limb.

President's Reply To Farmers
Receives Widespread Approval

Price-Fixing Project Demanded By Five Governors Of Agricultural States Generally Declared To Be Impracticable

President Roosevelt's objection of the demands of the governors of five agricultural states for price-fixing of farm products and currency inflation is widely applauded.

Viewing the governor's appeal in its most favorable light, the Minneapolis Journal emphasizes the belief that "the position of agriculture has been impaired by success of the NRA" for "there has been price advance of nearly everything the farmer has to buy, and his own income has not followed, except for some betterment in grains."

"President Roosevelt took the only possible course," the ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH advises, however, "when he rejected the price raising plan. The Governor's program would have required the Federal Government to license every farmer and every processor of farm products. It would have imposed a compulsory monthly production quota on every farmer in the United States. It would have forbidden any processor to buy or sell farm products below a stipulated price, a price some 50 per cent higher than the ones which now prevail. The plan, in short, would have compelled the Federal Government to impose detailed dictatorial control over the whole process of producing, processing and distributing food products, from one end of the country to the other. The administration's objections to the plan are unanswerable. It is probably unconstitutional. It is certainly unenforceable. If other states were unwilling to co-operate in the scheme, restriction of output in the five states proposing it would only induce increased output elsewhere, thus defeating the whole project. A sudden price boost of 70 per cent would cause a further cut in consumption." The Post-Dispatch adds that, "in the face of the record, it appears as ungrateful as it is inaccurate to accuse the government of neglecting the interests of agriculture."

"There can be no question," contends the DES MOINES TRIBUNE, "of the earnestness of the Department of Agriculture, under its present leadership, to accomplish great things for the farmer." This paper feels that "the proposal for immediate and universal licensing of everybody connected with farm products marketing producers included, realty calls for such dictatorial power of the government over half our total population as to stagger the imagination." The Tribune concludes: "The third thing in the situation is 'the re-emphasized urgency of speed. The fact that a new flare-up of unrest can be caused at any moment by the left wing of the farm movement, even though they be distinctly in the minority, has its clear significance. The handicap which this places on the carrying out of any program even a moderate amount of time is obvious."

"The farmers should await the outcome of the agriculture experiments that have been begun," declared the CLEVELAND NEWS, while the HOUSTON CHRONICLE states that "we must stay by the program already adopted," and the SPRINGFIELD (Mass.) UNION believes that "it would have been fatal to the whole body of the President's plans had he ventured to override the objections of illegality and utter impracticability of the demands of the Governors." The OAKLAND TRIBUNE says that "the Governors know what they wish, but is there anyone who knows how to give it to them?" The SAN ANTONIO EXPRESS observes that "the clash between economists and political opinion on the subject of 'price' in action through currency inflation must render still more difficult the attempts to relieve a critical condition in the Mid-West's economy."

"The President's rebuff to the Governors" thinks the ROCHESTER TIMES-UNION, "shows not only courage but a steady and broad view of the present situation and this is what the country needs to know of him." The YOUNGSTOWN VINDICATOR says: "Such price-fixing schemes as the farmers are demanding have always failed in the past and must always fail for the same reason that prohibition has failed; they are unsound in principle and there is no way to enforce them."

The PROVIDENCE JOURNAL feels that "the country is in no mood to listen seriously to a proposal that the government shall arbitrarily fix a price 70 per cent above prevailing quotations" while the CHARLOTTE OBSERVER holds that "the county at large is back of the President in heading off a movement that would have disrupted the monetary system of the country."

THE NEWARK EVENING NEWS avers that "the President has won new confidence." The BALTIMORE SUN describes "the whole scheme" as "unworkable." The WALL ST. JOURNAL sees the result that might be expected as "a quagmire."

The CHICAGO DAILY NEWS remarks that the plan "is somewhat too naive to warrant acceptance."

PLATO IN A TAXI

I walked up to a taxi, and the man who drove it sat Deep buried in a volume—and I asked: "what book is that?" It startled him to hear me, but it also startled me.

When he answered, "Jowett's Plato! I enjoy philosophy."

He never saw me coming; never stirred until I spoke. Though the thundering waves of traffic in the city round him broke.

He was back in ancient Athens at the feet of Socrates.

And I thought the while he drove me through the noisy city streets

Who knows the secret yearning of the humblest man he meets.

Here's an oil-stained taxi-driver hauling people to their gates, Praps to drinking bouts and revels—reading Plato while he waits!

Fate may play its tricks on mortals; it may leave the hands and feet may bind.

But who has the love for wisdom still is master of his mind. Here's a man whose pay is meager and his task seems rather drab, But Old Plato is his comrade though he drive a taxicab.

CONTROL PEACH LEAF CURL AND BROWN ROT

Leaf curl and brown rot, two destructive diseases of peaches, can be controlled by spraying.

During the past three years leaf curl has been increasing and growers now are in the midst of an epidemic. The disease is most severe in southeastern and south central orchards.

Exceptionally favorable weather for the development of brown rot and windstorms during the past summer have caused considerable loss from this disease this year.

Application of a spray to the trees while the peach buds are in a dormant state is recommended as a control for the fungus causing leaf curl. Many growers have failed to put the spray on early enough in the spring because of unfavorable weather or some other delay. As a result the sprays were not put on until after the buds were cracked.

Growers are urged to apply the dormant spray this fall where leaf curl has been present. This will avoid the failure to spray early in the spring. Either lime-sulphur, 1.03 specific gravity, or bordeaux mixture, 8-8-100, when thoroughly applied, will kill the spores of leaf curl, which pass the winter clinging to the peach buds and twigs.

Where bordeaux is used, it may be applied as soon as all of the leaves have dropped. Where lime-sulphur is used it is safer to wait until about four weeks after the leaves have fallen and the buds have hardened enough to exclude injury.

Bordeaux mixture, applied in the fall or in the spring, has been found to reduce the amount of brown rot twig infection the following season. Use of bordeaux for the application this year is strongly urged to combat the menace of brown rot which is so general in our orchards.

Prompt Action Necessary In Economical Weed Control

Weeds are an increasingly serious menace to the future usefulness of Lawrence county farms.

Quick grass, Canada thistle, wild morning glory, horse nettle, and perennial sow thistle are among the most persistent and aggressive. All of these spread not only from seed but also from creeping root stalks, which are constantly being dragged to new patches on harrows and cultivators.

Control of these weeds depends first on the prevention of seeding and then either starvation of the underground portion by preventing all top growth or the use of chemicals. Choice of the method of eradication depends largely upon the extent of infestation.

Poisoning with chemicals is most applicable on small patches where expense of materials is relatively small. Sodium chlorate is the most effective chemical for weed killing, being about 40 times as effective as salt. Mixtures of sodium chlorate, and calcium or magnesium chloride are also effective and eliminate, to a large extent, the fire hazard involved in the use of sodium chlorate.

To kill effectively all the weeds, from 8 to 12 pounds of the chemical is needed for each 1,000 square feet. Where a chlorate is used it may be dissolved in water, using 1 to 2 pounds per gallon and applied as a spray or with a sprinkling can. A more convenient and safer method is to scatter the dry sodium chlorate evenly by hand at the rate of 10 or 12 pounds per 1,000 square feet. Applications should always extend 6 or 8 feet beyond the edge of the patch to catch all the running roots. Calcium chlorate draws moisture from the air and is more difficult to use dry.

Time of application is also important. Late fall when the ground is moist and the weather is cool, is the best time for most weeds. Clover or alfalfa seed sown the next spring often comes on well and helps smother any surviving weeds.

There is a definite fire risk in the use of sodium chlorate especially when in solution.

Any inflammable material wet with such solution will take fire from friction, concussion, or moderate heat and will burn fiercely, just as will the head of a match. Never open drums save in the field. Calcium chlorate never gets dry enough to burn.

Test Proves Cows Pay For Balanced Rations

Does it pay to feed a balanced ration to milk cows or will a dairyman be farther ahead in the long run to feed just what grain he has on hand and not buy any protein concentrates? Is a question frequently asked by Lawrence county dairymen.

Some time ago the Illinois Agricultural Experiment Station took 18 cows and divided them equally into two groups on a basis of production of milk and butterfat. Both groups were being fed exactly the same. One group of nine cows was fed a balanced grain mixture and the other group an unbalanced grain mixture with no protein supplement being added to the home feed.

The cows were continued on this method of feeding for 18 weeks. The first week the group receiving the unbalanced ration dropped 5.8 pounds of milk per cow per day below the cows receiving the balanced ration. In the seventh week the difference was about 13 pounds less milk per cow per day. The average difference for the 18 weeks was 10.65 pounds of milk less per cow per day for the cows on the unbalanced ration. Total digestible nutrients of the two rations were about the same but there was lack of balance in one ration of protein to carbohydrates and fat. In addition to less milk, the cows on the unbalanced ration were less thrifty, lost weight, and went off feed easily.

The extra cost for the balanced ration at present prices would be about 3 to 4 cents per cow per day. The extra 10.65 pounds of milk per day would easily pay this extra cost with a good margin over and above this extra cost. In addition the cows would be maintained in a thrifter condition.

When a dairyman has his own grain, such as corn, oats, barley, wheat, or buckwheat, some protein supplement such as cottonseed meal, linseed oil meal, soybean meal, gluten, or brewer's grains, should be added. If a dairyman has to buy all his grain a ready-mixed feed may be purchased or the ingredients obtained and mixed together.

The amount of protein needed in a grain mixture will depend on the hay being fed. With alfalfa or soybean hay, a 16 per cent crude protein grain mixture is about correct. With clover or good mixed hay a 20 per cent protein grain mixture may be fed, but if a poor grade of timothy constitutes the main hay, then a 24 per cent protein grain mixture may be used.

To get the greatest returns for the grain being fed the grain should be weighed and given to the cows in proportion to the way they milk. To Guernseys and Jerseys feed about one pound of grain to each three pounds of milk produced daily and to Holsteins, Ayrshires and Brown Swiss feed one pound of grain to each 3½ or 4 pounds of milk produced.

IT TAKES HEALTHY NERVES

TO BE A CHAMPION BRONK RIDER!

Steady Smokers turn to Camels

Eddie Woods, one of the "top hands" of the cowboy world, says:

"Ten seconds on the back of an outlaw horse is about the hardest punishment for a man's nerves that anybody can imagine. To have nerves that can take it, I smoke only Camels. I've tried them all, but Camels are my smoke! They have a natural mildness, and I like their taste better. Most important of all, Camels do not jangle my nerves, even when I light up one Camel after another."

If you are nervous... jumpy... inclined to "fly off the handle"... change to Camels. Your own nerves and taste will confirm the fact that this milder cigarette, made from costlier tobaccos, is better for steady smoking.

A MATCHLESS BLEND

IT IS MORE FUN TO KNOW

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

Creosolium with creosote and six other highly important medicinal elements, quickly and effectively stops all coughs and colds that otherwise might lead to serious trouble.

Creosolium is powerful in the treatment of all colds and coughs, yet it is absolutely harmless and is pleasant and easy to take.

Your own druggist guarantees Creosolium by refunding your money if you are not relieved after taking Creosolium as directed. Beware the cough or cold that hangs on. Always keep Creosolium on hand for instant use. (Adv.)

Forest Army Aiding 15,000 State Families

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent,
New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 13.—More than 15,000 families will receive federal relief through civilian conservation corps checks this winter, Robert Fechner, director of the conservation work, reported today.

Mr. Fechner said that there are now 17,505 enrolled men in the conservation camps of the Keystone

State. Of these, 15,003 have families. Dependents of the forestry workers number 73,930.

Under federal regulations, each conservation worker is required to devote a large part of his monthly check to his family, this monthly allotment varying from $22 to $25. This means that 15,003 Pennsylvania families, numbering 73,930 dependents, will receive such checks this winter, Mr. Fechner says.

File Appeal To Report On Canal

Brief Charges That Costs For Project Are Overestimated By Engineers

ASK FAVORABLE REPORT BE MADE

In their appeal from the report submitted by U. S. army engineers, who stated that the costs of the Beaver-Mahoning river canalization would be too excessive to warrant construction, backers of the project in the Beaver and Mahoning river valley claim that these costs were overestimated and ask that a favorable report be rendered.

The report, submitted by the U. S. board of army engineers, was made last summer, and the appeal from their decision was just completed and filed with the board of army engineers last week.

The appeal and brief is signed by J. C. Argetsinger, attorney for the Youngstown Chamber of Commerce and affiliated interests. It contains 138 pages of printed matter, with a brief by S. Wallace Dempsey, former chairman of the congressional rivers and harbors committee, together with reports by the Randolph-Perkins company of Chicago, engineer; W. H. Dittoe and T. J. Bray, president of the Beaver, Mahoning & Shenango Rivers Improvement association.

It declares that the engineers' estimates of costs of water supply "are inconsistent with the facts, since one reservoir is sufficient"; assumed costs of maintenance and operation are higher than experience has shown is needed on similar waterways; that low formation set up as a basis for determining transport cost is less efficient than in use in connecting waterways.

It also sets forth that a great deal more tonnage is available than was allowed in the supplemental report and that the navigation season is not less than 330 days annually.

"No reason remains for withholding this stimulant from a great area and from all the people of the United States who have a direct interest in that area," Mr. Argetsinger says in the conclusion of his appeal.

"GYPSY ROVER"

Playing before one of the largest audiences ever to attend a school production the high school opera "Gypsy Rover" was an unprecedented success judging from the applause and encores at the finish of the production Friday evening in the Community House.

A glamorous, glorious, side-splitting musical comedy, it was the essence of the spirit of New Wilmington high school's talent. Lovely costumes, beautiful music and attractive dances all went together to make it the greatest production in the history of the school.

Miss Elizabeth Rose, instructor of music at the local school and director of Gypsy Rover, is to be commended for her untiring work in making the presentation of the affair the huge success it was. The stage work and make-ups under the direction of the Dramatic club were exceedingly well done.

Coke Workers

Get Increase

Sixteen Per Cent Wage Increase For Thousands Of Coke Workers

(International News Service)
UNIONTOWN, Nov. 13.—A 16 per cent wage increase for thousands of H. C. Frick Coke Company employees becomes effective today.

Official notices posted at the company's operations announced that the new schedule calls for 32 cents a ton for mining coal, an increase of 4.5 cents over the former payment. The scale last week when the miners returned to work called for 40 cents a ton. Under that scale, however, the miners had to provide their own powder and dynamite caps and drill their own holes for blasting. It was estimated this reduced the actual compensation to 27.36 per ton.

Under the schedule effective today the company provides the materials. Maxwell and Bridgeport are not affected by the scale because of a difference in the nature of operations there.

Although the effective date of the new scale is posted for today, it will not actually go into force until tomorrow when operations get under way. Only the Maxwell was scheduled to work today. Other units start the week tomorrow or Wednesday. Operations at the 12 Frick plants, employing 6,000 men, will be limited to three days this week, instead of five days.

More than 500 men were scheduled to return to work today at the crucible mine of the Crucible Steel Company. It was expected several other captive mines would resume shortly.

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 13.—Convocation of Pennsylvania's legislature in extraordinary session today brought a new distinction to Gov. Gifford Pinchot.

He became the second governor in the history of the commonwealth to call four special sessions. The late Thomas Mifflin, governor from December 1799 to December 1799, also called four.

Shenango-Taylor School

Our attendance for the past month has not been equal to that of the month of September. However, Miss Lorenz's room again carried off the attendance banner with an average attendance of slightly more than 98 per cent. The attendance of the other rooms still remained well above 90 per cent.

The student council as organized under the able direction of Miss Gordon has been functioning very nicely considering that this is the first attempt of the children to carry out any activity of this kind. They have inspired better school spirit in their playground activities by staging a tug of war between the seventh and eighth grade girls which the eighth grade girls won. They have also sponsored mushball games in which the sixth grade boys have carried off all the honors so far.

We are hoping in the very near future to be able to compile a school paper containing some of the school activities and some of the best work done in the different classes. This will be organized under the direction of Miss Lorenz in connection with her English classes.

Fire drill was carried out last week quite as successfully as it was the previous month, the building being emptied in less than one minute, according to Mr. Swisher's time.

We have arranged with the Pennsylvania state museum to use lantern slides in connection with both history and geography classes. The first slides arrived last week and we found that it was necessary to show these at an extra session in the evening. We expect to continue this practice as long as the school property is respected and the behavior is good. We would like to invite the patrons of the school to attend these evening sessions, or any other session, and become better acquainted.

Sidelights Of Celebration

The re-organized bugle and drum corps of the Harry L. McBride post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, with two pretty girls attired in long white robes, made a hit with the crowd. The corps was attired in all-white uniforms.

Little Mary Louise Ward, Charles Kirk, and Marguerite Kirk, rode in the Red Cross ambulance, which called attention to the roll call of the Red Cross, which opened Saturday. The ambulance was there for an emergency, in case there were any casualties, but was not needed for this purpose.

One lone group of Girl Scouts braved the elements to march in the parade.

Something must have happened to the Butler veteran, who has been on the job with his cannon at all the celebrations in the past few years.

There was quite a group of Boy Scout troops in the parade. A prize was offered by the parade committee for the best troop in line and the different organizations were eager to get the money for their troop treasury.

The salute fired by Headquarters Battery, 107th Field artillery, of Ellwood City, in honor of General Shanton, awakened the echoes throughout the valley. It recalled days of 15 years ago to the veterans of the World War, and revived unpleasant memories for many.

In spite of all the nasty weather, the celebration was a nice one, and reflected credit on the committee of local veterans, with Louis B. Round as their chairman, who planned the event.

Muskingum Tops Westminster In Tough Game 6-0

Home-Coming Day Game At Westminster Played On Field Covered With Snow

FURBAY SCORES FOR OHIO TEAM

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Nov. 13.—It was "home-coming" day at Westminster college Saturday afternoon and about 2,500 old graduates and fans turned out to watch the Westminster-Muskingum football game despite the fact that it was raining, snowing and sleeting during the entire battle. The Ohio eleven defeated the Titans 6 to 0. The field was a mass of snow and ice even after efforts by freshmen with trucks and shovels earlier in the day to get the field in condition.

The footing was so slippery that often times it was not necessary for the ball carrier to be tackled, as he would slip down without the slightest provocation. Forward passing was almost out of the question. The ball was very slippery. Muskingum tried two passes and the Titan secondary defense caught both of them.

Furbay scored for the Ohio invaders in the opening period when Muskingum blocked a punt on the Westminster 30-yard line, and after two plays Furbay skirted around for 21 yards that produced the only score of the game.

The Westminster team made a fine comeback in the second half of the game and had the ball on the Muskingum half-field line but on the last play at the line Sweeney was stopped. The first downs were seven to five in favor of Muskingum. Ray Sweeney and Furbay engaged in a real punting duel most of the afternoon, with honors about even.

The line play of both teams was good even though the players could not get much of a footing.

Next Saturday the Westminster college football team will close its 1935 season by playing Case college of Cleveland, O., at New Wilmington.

Shannon Proves Real Grid Fan

It takes more than a cold biting rain, sleet and snow to make Lieutenant-Governor Edward C. Shannon run for cover. The state official who is also commander-in-chief of the Pennsylvania National Guards was an interested spectator at the New Castle-Butler high grid battle at Taggart Field Saturday.

Shannon and his party came in at the end of the first half and took special seats near the New Castle High bench. Just after Shannon arrived it started to rain hard, and then it started to sleet, and when Dr. Jackson asked Shannon if he wanted to leave and go to the Castleton, the state official replied: "Certainly not. I am enjoying the game and I don't mind the bad weather one bit. What kind of a soldier do you think I am." He stuck to the very end of the game, and probably got a good wetting.

Football Team Enjoys Banquet At Bessemer, Pa.

Fifty Attend Joyous Celebration At Bessemer Hi Saturday Night

Bessemer high school football players can eat as well as play football, according to Coach J. K. Frederick. Saturday evening after the mud from the Bessemer-Scienceville game had been washed off their faces, the Bessemer high squad 39 strong sat down to a fine banquet in the school building.

Coach Boyd speaks. The event was climaxed by the presence of Coach Dave M. Boyd of Union high school, who was introduced as the principal speaker, and gave a talk that was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone present. Boyd did a lot of explaining about what happened to Union in the final quarter of the Bessemer 26 to 0 victory. Boyd's talk made a decided hit. Gerald Nord, principal of Bessemer high, delivered a short talk.

Coach J. K. Frederick handled the job of toastmaster in fine style. He congratulated the Bessemer high team for their record to date and hopes that they defeat Lowellville next week in the final game. Captain Bill DeArment was also a speaker and thanked the team for the co-operation shown this year. W. G. DeArment, father of the captain, and member of the school board at Bessemer, also spoke briefly. Johnny Marshall, one of the football boys, played a guitar solo. A few words were also spoken by Assistant Coach Victory Thomas and by Faculty Manager Ross. Members of the school board of Bessemer and the members of the Bessemer faculty were special guests at the banquet. The tables were prettily decorated in red and black, the school colors.

Nickum-Fleming Score Touchdowns On Sloppy Field

New Castle High "Red Hurricane" Registers Ninth Straight Victory

Butler High Puts Up Courageous Battle; Fred Shellogg Blocks Punt

Taggart field was a sea of snow, slush and water Saturday afternoon but this did not prevent the New Castle high school "Red Hurricane" football team from hanging up its 24th consecutive football victory, by defeating a fine Butler high grid team. The final score was 12 to 0.

An Armistice Day crowd that numbered 2,000 witnessed the battle amid shivers and rain drops. Lieutenant-Governor Edward C. Shannon, was an interested spectator during the second half of the game, following his arrival from Pittsburgh.

Charles "Whitey" Nickum and Charles Fleming scored the touchdowns that gave the Red Hurricanes the game. Butler High sent a well trained and staunch team to New Castle, but they were not equal to the task of upsetting the locals. It rained, it sleeted and it snowed at intervals, but this didn't dampen the ardor of the fans nor the spirit of the players.

Butler Tests Locals. Butler High had a team on the field that would have given a much better account of itself on a dry gridiron. New Castle only had five first downs and three of these were on penalties inflicted on the Butler players for roughing Captain Walter Komink when he was punting. Only two of the first downs for the Red-shirted players were of the earned variety. Butler didn't fare quite so well, having but two first downs, but they were both earned. It was a peculiar game in many respects. For the kind of a field and the condition of the ball, the two punters, Komink and Sherman got off some very fine punts. Sherman on one in-play, must have kicked at least 70 yards to deep into New Castle territory. Nickum the New Castle kicker off man was also booting them far and wide and twice he kicked the ball over the goal line from the center of the field.

Good Punting. There was not much fumbling, as one would imagine with the ball as slippery as if greased. Forward passing was not so successful with New Castle throwing five and completing one. Butler passed fourteen times and made but two of them good for short gains.

Both teams presented fine lines. It was a mighty hard job to find your way through either of those lines. There were no long spectacular runs. The game opened with New Castle taking the kickoff and after a few plays found Butler's line impenetrable and Komink booted to Sherman, on the Butler 8-yard line. Sandloop passed to Sherman for 10 yards and a first down to the Butler 21-yard line. Butler was soon forced to kick, and Komink and Nickum ran the ball to the Butler 18 yard line only to lose it on downs.

Fleming Makes Touchdown. Butler erred at this stage of the game as later events proved. From the 18-yard line Sandloop elected to pass, and Fleming, New Castle end, intercepted the ball and raced for the first New Castle touchdown. Leading the interference for Fleming were Alec Shellogg and Walter Komink, who were bowled over by the Butler men, allowing Fleming clear passage to the goal line.

Komink tried to plunge the ball over, but was halted a half-foot from the goal line. New Castle had the ball on their own 45-yard line as the first period ended.

See-Saw Battle. The second period was a see-saw affair with first one team and then the other punting to try and get a "break" but no "breaks" came. It was in this particular quarter that New Castle got 45 yards when Butler's players charged in too fast and roughed Komink in the act of punting. New Castle, near the end of the period worked the ball to the Butler 30-yard line, but lost it on downs.

Nickum kicked off to Butler at the start of the third period. Sandloop made six yards through the line, and after another play had failed Sherman attempted to punt and the ball was blocked by Johns of New Castle who had replaced Sorto at guard. Howley was hurt in the game. New Castle took the ball to the Butler 25-yard line and lost it on downs. Chermitsky and Narbetsky knifed the New Castle line for 15 yards and a first down. A 15-yard penalty was inflicted on New Castle. Butler took the ball to the New Castle 30 and lost it on downs. Komink punted to Butler

Coach Regis Heinzer of the Butler high football team suffered two severe losses Saturday.

Death claimed his beloved mother at 10 o'clock Saturday morning at the Heinzer home in Butler, and shortly after noon Heinzer brought his team to New Castle. After considerably debate he was finally persuaded that it would be the best thing to do. It was with a heavy heart that the Butler coach made the journey here.

In the dressing room he was the stern Butler high coach although his heart must have been breaking. He didn't show any emotion, as he prepared his team for their biggest game of the year and their final game of the season. Butler lost to New Castle 13 to 0, but maybe you think those boys weren't in there trying to win that game for Heinzer. Rather than cancel on New Castle Heinzer fulfilled his contract, under the most trying of conditions.

Dukes Rated Tie Says Ben Ciccone

Center Of Duquesne Eleven Discusses Game In Pittsburgh, Saturday

Benny Ciccone, star center of the Duquesne University football team, was home over Sunday after one of the most grueling games of his experience against Pitt on Saturday.

"It was a ball game," said Benny today, "and we were entitled to a tie. Had Zanelli's try for a field goal, which he missed by scant inches, gone over, the result might have been a lot different. Then the fumble which paved the way for Pitt's touchdown, was disastrous for us."

Ciccone has been the outstanding star of the line for Duquesne this season. After starring on New Castle High school he went to Duquesne and under the tutelage of Elmer Layden, one of the Four Horsemen, Benny has developed into a star of the first water. He is easily the best center of the three Pittsburgh teams today.

On Saturday he played the entire game, he and Zanelli not being taken out for substitutes in the four periods.

Titan Harriers Defeat Muskies

(Special To The News) NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Nov. 13.—Running over a four mile sweep course here Saturday, the Westminster college cross country team defeated Muskingum's harriers by a 22 to 32 score. Perry Klumph, Titan captain, finished first, negotiating the distance in 26 minutes 2 seconds. Raitt of Muskingum was second, in 26 minutes, 28 1-5 seconds.

The others, in order of finish were: Gerstner, Westminster, third; Snyder, Westminster, third; Muskingum, tied for fourth; Needham, Westminster, sixth; Kurze, Muskingum, seventh; Manor, Westminster, eighth; Roode, Muskingum, ninth; Carrier, Muskingum, tenth; Kennedy, Westminster, eleventh.

The victory gave the Titan harriers a record of two victories and one defeat for the season. Victories over West Virginia and Muskingum, and a defeat at Pitt completes the season for the team.

Bessemer Trims Scienceville In Mud Battle 19-0

Navarro Scores Twice And Marshall Once For Bessemer Victory

GAME PLAYED ON MUDDY GRIDIRON

Coach Frederick's Bessemer high school gridgers continued their winning ways on the local grid Saturday by trouncing the highly rated Scienceville, Ohio eleven 19-0. Due to the uncertain footing caused by the melting snow and intermittent showers Bessemer abandoned the aerial game which they have used so successfully during the entire season, in favor of consecutive line play. The score would indicate that while the locals have specialized in passing in the past, drill on the line play has not been neglected.

Navarro Is Star. Bessemer's ace quarterback Henry Marshall was seriously handicapped by the slippery turf although he did break away for a 30 yard touchdown on another occasion he skirted left on for a 50 yard run to the Scienceville 10 yard line. Whatever handicaps the wet field was to the Bessemer team was made up for by the line plunging activities of Navarro who almost single-handed accounted for Bessemer's first score. At the opening of the second quarter Scienceville punted to the Bessemer 40. A succession of line plunges with Navarro carrying the ball almost exclusively netted 3 first downs and placed the ball on the 5 yard stripe. The little half-back was again called upon and he ripped through center and scored standing up. He also plunged the extra point.

Marshall Scores. Bessemer scored again in the third period after Green of Scienceville had punted to his own 40. Bessemer made first down on the 30 then Marshall slid off tackle, outran the Scienceville secondary and scored. Navarro's attempt to plunge the point was stopped.

Bessemer's final tally came in the fourth period. Marshall received Green's punt on his own 30 and ran it to the Scienceville 40. The locals only complete pass of the afternoon, Clark to Marshall placed the ball on the Scienceville 8. Clark plunged to the 1 yard line and Navarro plunged it over. Clark attempted a plunge for the extra point but failed.

Princeton May Accept Bid For Rose Bowl Game

Princeton's Unbeaten And Untied Football Team Has Eye Peeled On California

TIGERS ARE HARD AND FAST ELEVEN

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Nothing less than a presidential command will get an unbeaten army team to the Rose bowl this year or any other year, the writer was informed today by an officer high in the councils at West Point.

But if California feels it must see a high school unbeaten, untied and unscored upon Princeton team in action, it may do so by dropping a polite little note to Princeton, N. J., not forgetting, of course, to enclose sufficient financial inducements.

Naturally, the college made famous by big Bill Edwards and Woodrow Wilson is too sacrosanct to be interested in anything so sordid as the dollar especially a dollar that is dropping to the nadir, 30¢ if enough of them are laid on the line, the writer has been told, Princeton will not take more than one slight sniff from an upturned nostril, just form's sake, before accepting.

Might Accept
At that, a Rose bowl game might be a good thing for both Princeton and California. Each might get a truer slant on the other.

Princeton may be the seat of eastern culture and social standing, but that doesn't deter it from having one of the biggest, snappiest and roughest football teams to be found anywhere.

These lads play real football and if any of them are in the social registers of their native cities, they forget it when they trot out on the gridiron. You may recall that Harvard broke off relations with them a few years ago because, Harvard charged, the Princeton boys were somewhat careless where they parked their fists.

Have Real Class
Any team that could run up 20 points on a Columbia team good enough to outclass Navy, the conqueror of Notre Dame, must have real class and the Tigers have all of that.

The boys themselves are eager to go West, and since it is a million to one against the Army going, Princeton is the only eastern candidate left.

Navy and Yale still have dates with Princeton but they have as much chance of trimming the Tiger's claws as a canary has of chasing a cat.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Moore Byrd ran like an escaping prisoner but despite the Indian convict's fleetness of foot, Sing Sing's football team was defeated yesterday at Ossining, N. Y., 7 to 6.

One of the big upsets of Saturday's football play was the tumbling of the Trojans of Southern California by Leland Stanford. It was as large an upset as has taken place on the "western front." Bill Corbus, honor student in the classroom and an All-American guard saved the day for Stanford. His two field goals in the fourth period toppled the Mighty Trojans 13 to 7 for the first time in 28 games. A few weeks ago Corbus accurately beat the University of California at Los Angeles, 3-0.

Defeat by Pitt of Duquesne leaves the east, with only six undefeated football teams of which Army and Princeton can only be listed in the so-called major college classification. Army and Bluefield college each has won seven successive games while Princeton and St. Thomas each have won six. Davis and Elkins still holds the lead for scoring with 319 points. Grove City has won five games but like Davis and Elkins has been tied. Young of Bluefield holds the individual scoring honors so far with 96 points.

Michigan Headed For Championship

Wolverines Must Get By Minnesota This Week To Keep Slate Clean

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—Western conference championship honors loomed closer today for the Michigan football team, the only big team that remains untied and undefeated.

Having trampled down the worthy Iowa Hawkeyes Saturday by a 10 to 6 score at Ann Arbor, the mighty men of Michigan face a difficult barrier on the title road next week end when Minnesota, an old and dangerous foe, engages the Wolverine battalion.

That Minnesota may prove the most sinister opponent of the season for Michigan was demonstrated when the Northern rose up and tipped Pittsburgh earlier in the season. Bernie Bierman has been keying his Gopher machine for the Michigan battle since one week ago and the team should be at its peak.

Michigan boasts conference victories over Ohio State, Chicago, Illinois and Iowa at present. Three more big ten championship games are on call for next Saturday in addition to the Minnesota-Michigan headliner. Chicago still to see its first league victory, this fall, goes to Champaign to meet the University of Illinois eleven. Iowa will try to forget last Saturday when the Hawkeyes met Purdue at Lafayette. Ohio State clashes with Wisconsin while Northwestern meets the luckless Notre Dame team of Hunk Anderson.

Winter-Tinney Continued Lead In Grid Scoring

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Tinney and Winter, of Davis and Elkins, still continue in a tie for the lead in the race for eastern individual scoring honors today.

Davis and Elkins was idle Saturday, so neither player could gain any points. Both have 67 markers to their credit.

Another team mate, Fluharty, is still in third place with 62, with Randour, of Villanova, fourth with 58 while Shelton, another Davis and Wilkins player, is tied for fifth place with Hemmerda of Rutgers with 54 points each.

Wesley To Enter Church League

After discussion at the home of William Rech among members of the Wesley M. E. church basketball team it was decided to enter the New Castle Church basketball league this winter. The Wesley team will be minus the services of their coach Billy Hood and the big center Ed Irwin.

Hood is giving up coaching this year to referee in the church league. Wesley will miss Hood who has been at the helm for the past two years and both times Wesley has won the Class A championship.

The following will represent Wesley this year on the hardwood court: William Rech, R. Rech, Jack Mottinger, Paul Fabian, Tom Grille, J. Schae, P. Matthews, J. Severa, Billy Critchlow and the energetic manager, L. A. Gibson.

Important Fights On Tap This Week

Great Football Elevens Crumble

Notre Dame And Southern California Out Of Picture For National Honors

NOT MANY TEAMS IN UNBEATEN CLASS

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—When the historians set about the presentation of their testimony, they'll look for a phrase that seems to cover everything and call this the year of the big win before which the empires of football first trembled, then tottered and finally fell.

Last month, it was Tennessee. The Vols, beaten in almost three years, ultimately died before Duke. Last week, it was Colgate. It lost to Tulane after two years of unalloyed success. All season long, it had been Notre Dame, which not only can't beat anybody but can't score any time, and on Saturday, Southern California finally yielded to Stanford, 13 to 7, to close a run of prosperity that had carried it on the rough twenty-eight previous games.

Five Defeats
This was the pay-back on a very dizzy season, although if anything could be more bewildering than Notre Dame's behavior, the evidence of same is no more than circumstantial. A few years ago, this was the fabled team of all football and seemingly nothing could stop it. Instead, it was beaten Saturday by Purdue, 19 to 0. To round out an amazing record that includes five shutouts in six games, four of these coming successively.

In other words, Notre Dame, always pretty thorough in its behavior, is now going in for non-stop stopping.

However, it wasn't what happened to Notre Dame, nor was it Michigan's defeat of Iowa, 10 to 6; nor Princeton's 7 to 0 victory over Dartmouth, Oregon's 13 to 3 victory over Oregon State nor the 7 to 0 victory of Georgia and Pittsburgh over Yale and Duquesne respectively. The outstanding development of Saturday was the victory of Stanford and the defeat of U. S. C.

Southern Cal Beaten
This not only up-turned all form on the coast. It left the Rose bowl committee with only one western choice, Oregon, and as for the latter, it is doesn't beat U. S. C. next Saturday, the coast will be without a national candidate for the first time in more than ten years.

At that, national candidates from any place are few. As the result of Saturday's developments, the unbeaten teams of ranking merit are ten in number. The west coast has Oregon. The mid-west has Michigan, Nebraska, which beat Kansas 12 to 0, to take the Big Six title for the third straight year, and Purdue and Minnesota. The latter has played three ties, which is at least two too many.

Sing Sing Grid Team Is Beaten

(International News Service)

OSSENING, N. Y., Nov. 13.—There was gloom in the big grey house on the hill today. Of course, there is always more or less gloom there but the pall was a little thicker than usual because the football team that represents the big grey house was beaten by the Danbury Trojans yesterday, 7 to 6.

The big grey house is Sing Sing, the state prison.

New Brighton Hi Defeats Ellwood

Tubers Lose Hard Fought Game 18-0 In Armistice Day Sports Feature

PUNTING AND PASSING HANDICAPPED BY RAIN

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 13.—In a sea of mud and water Ellwood City high lost a hard fought game to New Brighton high by an 18-0 score in the Armistice Day sports feature on the latter's field Saturday afternoon.

It rained throughout the game. There was considerable fumbling of the ball. Passing was cut down to a minimum. The punting, which was frequent, on an average, was not very good. The rain hurt Ellwood's aerial attack and therefore dimmed their chances of victory.

Good Running Attack.
In winning the game New Brighton presented a well organized running attack which gave them a total of ten first downs to two for Ellwood. The home team scored twice in the first quarter and once in the last. The second touchdown was the result of a 15-yard pass from Cape to Vukich. The other two came on scrimmage. All of New Brighton's tries for extra point after touchdown, by placement, line buck and passing, failed.

Capo, New Brighton's brilliant left halfback, was the chief thorn in the side of the Ellwoodians. Time after time he would break away for appreciable gains. Besides doing good bulk of the ball carrying he also did the passing and had to be constantly watched.

Roarkmen Score Early.
The game was not very old when the Roark men tallied. After receiving the kickoff on their own 20 they were held for two downs. On the third play Hornik, New Brighton fullback, broke away for a first down. Immediately following he broke through the right tackle for 25 yards, bringing the pigskin to Ellwood's 25.

In two more plays Capo made another first down on Ellwood's 7. Here they were checked momentarily, but on the third down, Capo skirted right end for the touchdown. L. Goosby missed the try for extra point from the 3 yard line. The second score came as the period was ending. Franas was forced to punt from deep in his own territory. Hornik received it on Ellwood's 48 and returned it to the 15-yard line. Two running plays failed to gain a yard and on third down Capo threw a pass to Vukich, who caught it on the goal line and stepped back for the score. Delucias line would not yield when Hornik attempted to buck it for the extra point.

In the second and third stanzas the game just seemed back and forth with Ellwood getting the worst of the argument. For most of the game the Benedict men were on defense. They took few chances, punting on second or third down.

Goosby Scores Last.
Late in the fourth period the home team started its third and final scoring drive. Following an exchange of punts New Brighton had the ball on Ellwood's 28-yard line. On several running plays it was soon on the 5 from where L. Goosby broke away for the score. A pass from Capo to Vukich for the extra point was batted down. After the kickoff there was time for two plays before the goal line was reached by the victors. L. Goosby, Vukich and Hornik contributed considerably to New Brighton's offense in the halfback. O. Goosby, Mujwitt and Henry played stellar roles in the line. Franas, Young and Lamenzo were best in the Ellwood backfield while Marcus, Shirey, Pishonier and Steckman were outstanding in the line.

Ellwood will play its final game of the season on next Saturday afternoon when they will invade Rochester.

List Marks Time And Quiet Down After Early Transactions

By LESLIE GOULD International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The stock market turned quiet after a strong start today. A further decline in the dollar along with a new high for gold stimulated some buying in the early dealings but this was quickly exhausted and the list marked time.

Commodities were stronger than stocks. Wheat spurted more than 2 cents a bushel and held most of its gains, with other grains up in sympathy. Silver went to a new high in heavy dealings, up nearly a cent an ounce. Cotton ruled 75 cents a bale higher.

Government bonds quieted down after Saturday's rally. A steady one developed after some initial irregularity.

Saturday's rally brought a higher opening in stocks and this was followed by a moderate rise in which gains ran to 2 points. Some profit-taking followed and the list receded from its highs.

Heavy dealings and higher prices in the currency market were outstanding. This followed the news that the company had completed a deal with Russia for the manufacture of engines.

Petroleum was again in demand and rose to a new high for the year. It enjoyed a flurry of buying which saw Standard of New Jersey at a new peak for the year but this failed to carry through.

U. S. Steel and N. Y. Central were strong leaders for a while but subsided later. Rails were generally quiet as loadings continued their seasonal downturn.

Motor shares did little and the farm stocks failed to make any important response to the higher grain prices. Utilities ruled in a narrow range.

The rise in the R. F. C. gold price to $33.45 an ounce fell flat as a stimulus to the gold mining shares. Silver stocks were likewise dull in the face of the spurt in the metal.

Packing shares pointed higher on reports of better earning while the tobacco showed a lifting of pressure.

This will be the first time that a New Castle girl has been awarded the Golden Eaglet. The award signifies, in addition to outstanding achievement in Girl Scouting, character recommendations of a very high nature.

Donna Jean has been a Girl Scout for five years. She is a member of the Minnehaha Troop 6, of which Mrs. W. H. Hanger is leader. She has earned 21 merit badges, and was recommended for the Golden Eaglet by a letter from her troop captain, another from the chairman of the Court of Awards and another from the honor was sent to National Girl Scout Headquarters.

Although other local girls have had as many merit badges, this is the first that the New Castle Girl Scout troop has earned in every respect.

The November 25 meeting in St. Mary's church basement will get underway at 2:00 p. m. with a program of the girls who attended either "permanence" or "day" camp last summer. The Golden Eaglet presentation will be the climax of the day.

Advocating a graduated income tax law to "prevent the closing of several hundred schools in this commonwealth by the first of January," the chief executive informed the legislators that "cannot and should not continue to pay the whole increasing load of school taxation." To alleviate the financial burden of farmers, he urged transfer of 53,000 miles of second class township roads to the highway department.

With a firm declaration that "President Roosevelt's national recovery program must be supported," Governor Pinchot told the lawmakers they will receive administration bills removing constitutional and other limitations on the borrowing power of the commonwealth and its subdivisions.

Company-paid deputy sheriffs and their employers came in for stinging criticism as the governor urged abolition of the former whom he blamed for fomenting trouble in the Western Pennsylvania bituminous coal strike.

"They are trained to look for trouble, and they are eager to find it," he asserted. "Their existence is a constant threat against the peace and good order of this commonwealth."

Turning to utilities, the chief executive requested senators to confirm his five appointees to the public service commission. To get "fair rates for the householder of Pennsylvania" he urged enactment of a law preventing any company from "increasing its rates until such increases in effect."

A two-fold program designed to end cheating at elections was unfolded in the message. It would provide for the automatic disqualification of any candidate who condones or participates in cheating and would create permanent registration for voters.

The governor also urged creation of a milk control board to end evils resulting from unfair distribution of costs and profits in the sale of milk. Modification of banking laws to give the state banking department control over private banks; adoption of the proposed child labor amendment to the federal constitution and a state law prohibiting the hiring of children under 16 years of age; and passage of a minimum wage law in Pennsylvania.

Governor Pinchot asked the General Assembly to forbid use of the roads to the larger motor trucks on Saturday afternoons, Sunday and holidays. In parting he cautioned: "Keep your eyes trained on one thing—the public good."

Liquor legislation must be enacted before December 5, he said, to prevent an "unrestrained, uncontrolled flood" of untaxed alcoholic beverages from the Keystone state. With this he unveiled his plans on liquor control, school and relief finances, banking and social legislation, utilities, milk, highways and election laws. Although machinery for payment of a soldiers' bonus was included in his call, the chief executive ignored the subject entirely in his address.

He made a strong appeal for adoption of his state store system, but was silent on sales in hotels and restaurants, claiming that conferees with drys, wets and political leaders have resulted in coming out differences on all essential points. Governor Pinchot observed:

"It appears agreed that the saloon must not come back; that liquor must not be sold without restraint; that private profit from liquor must be reduced to a minimum; that sale for non-consumption purposes must be in the hands of the state; that the judges must not be dragged back into liquor politics; that the price of liquor must be low enough to discourage bootlegging by making it unprofitable; that the principles of local law, and that embodied in the liquor law, and that liquor must be taxed heavily enough to yield large revenue to the state, but not too heavily to encourage bootlegging."

Referring to the plan for issuance of licenses to individuals as advocated by some members of the Republican organization, the Governor added:

"Most important of all, although unspoken, is the desire that profits from the liquor business should thus be made available for campaign contributions and the maintenance of political machines."

No Tax Suggestion

No suggestion was made to the amount liquor should be taxed after repeal, but Governor Pinchot did recommend that 12,500,000 gallons now stored in Pennsylvania be taxed $2 a gallon to raise $25,000,000 immediately. Under his plan $12,000,000 of this would be used to finance a state public works program; $5,000,000 for keeping financially distressed schools open; and the remaining $8,000,000 to offset the loss resulting from repeal of the four-mill tax on interest-bearing assets.

Neither did he estimate the amount of profit which would accrue to the commonwealth through the state store plan. Because additional relief funds "will be required some time next spring" governor Pinchot recommended $20,000,000 of the liquor receipts be earmarked for relief "to avoid calling another extra session." He urged $5,000,000 be taken from the same source annually for old age pensions.

Although admitting it is too late or unemployment insurance to meet the present crisis, the governor urged establishment of an insurance system "out of state state profits" to arm ourselves for the next depression.

SPECIAL SESSION OF LEGISLATURE IS OPENED AT NOON

play is no politics at all, but simply do what the people want done," the governor said. "There is nothing you or I can do that will be more appreciated by the people than to deal with the questions before this session wholly and exclusively on their merits."

"Most important of all, although unspoken, is the desire that profits from the liquor business should thus be made available for campaign contributions and the maintenance of political machines."

No Tax Suggestion

No suggestion was made to the amount liquor should be taxed after repeal, but Governor Pinchot did recommend that 12,500,000 gallons now stored in Pennsylvania be taxed $2 a gallon to raise $25,000,000 immediately. Under his plan $12,000,000 of this would be used to finance a state public works program; $5,000,000 for keeping financially distressed schools open; and the remaining $8,000,000 to offset the loss resulting from repeal of the four-mill tax on interest-bearing assets.

Neither did he estimate the amount of profit which would accrue to the commonwealth through the state store plan. Because additional relief funds "will be required some time next spring" governor Pinchot recommended $20,000,000 of the liquor receipts be earmarked for relief "to avoid calling another extra session." He urged $5,000,000 be taken from the same source annually for old age pensions.

Although admitting it is too late or unemployment insurance to meet the present crisis, the governor urged establishment of an insurance system "out of state state profits" to arm ourselves for the next depression.

Advocating a graduated income tax law to "prevent the closing of several hundred schools in this commonwealth by the first of January," the chief executive informed the legislators that "cannot and should not continue to pay the whole increasing load of school taxation." To alleviate the financial burden of farmers, he urged transfer of 53,000 miles of second class township roads to the highway department.

With a firm declaration that "President Roosevelt's national recovery program must be supported," Governor Pinchot told the lawmakers they will receive administration bills removing constitutional and other limitations on the borrowing power of the commonwealth and its subdivisions.

Company-paid deputy sheriffs and their employers came in for stinging criticism as the governor urged abolition of the former whom he blamed for fomenting trouble in the Western Pennsylvania bituminous coal strike.

"They are trained to look for trouble, and they are eager to find it," he asserted. "Their existence is a constant threat against the peace and good order of this commonwealth."

Turning to utilities, the chief executive requested senators to confirm his five appointees to the public service commission. To get "fair rates for the householder of Pennsylvania" he urged enactment of a law preventing any company from "increasing its rates until such increases in effect."

A two-fold program designed to end cheating at elections was unfolded in the message. It would provide for the automatic disqualification of any candidate who condones or participates in cheating and would create permanent registration for voters.

The governor also urged creation of a milk control board to end evils resulting from unfair distribution of costs and profits in the sale of milk. Modification of banking laws to give the state banking department control over private banks; adoption of the proposed child labor amendment to the federal constitution and a state law prohibiting the hiring of children under 16 years of age; and passage of a minimum wage law in Pennsylvania.

Governor Pinchot asked the General Assembly to forbid use of the roads to the larger motor trucks on Saturday afternoons, Sunday and holidays. In parting he cautioned: "Keep your eyes trained on one thing—the public good."

play is no politics at all, but simply do what the people want done," the governor said. "There is nothing you or I can do that will be more appreciated by the people than to deal with the questions before this session wholly and exclusively on their merits."

Liquor Legislation

Liquor legislation must be enacted before December 5, he said, to prevent an "unrestrained, uncontrolled flood" of untaxed alcoholic beverages from the Keystone state. With this he unveiled his plans on liquor control, school and relief finances, banking and social legislation, utilities, milk, highways and election laws. Although machinery for payment of a soldiers' bonus was included in his call, the chief executive ignored the subject entirely in his address.

He made a strong appeal for adoption of his state store system, but was silent on sales in hotels and restaurants, claiming that conferees with drys, wets and political leaders have resulted in coming out differences on all essential points. Governor Pinchot observed:

"It appears agreed that the saloon must not come back; that liquor must not be sold without restraint; that private profit from liquor must be reduced to a minimum; that sale for non-consumption purposes must be in the hands of the state; that the judges must not be dragged back into liquor politics; that the price of liquor must be low enough to discourage bootlegging by making it unprofitable; that the principles of local law, and that embodied in the liquor law, and that liquor must be taxed heavily enough to yield large revenue to the state, but not too heavily to encourage bootlegging."

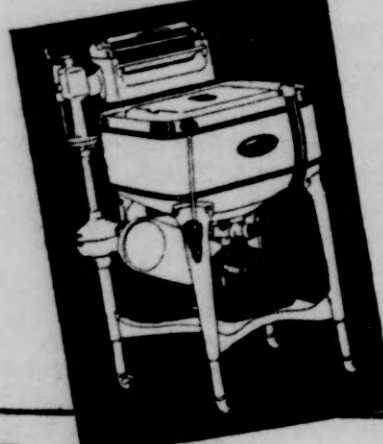

Referring to the plan for issuance of licenses to individuals as advocated by some members of the Republican organization, the Governor added:

"Most important of all, although unspoken, is the desire that profits from the liquor business should thus be made available for campaign contributions and the maintenance of political machines."

Probe Crash Of Airplane Over New York City

Three Meet Death In "Joy-riding Plane" As It Hits Tenement House

PILOT SUFFERS SERIOUS INJURIES

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Triple investigation into the crash of a "joy-riding" airplane, in which three youths were killed and a fourth was critically injured, was pressed today as department of commerce inspectors said preliminary inquiry failed to show the cause of the accident.
The plane, piloted by Stanley A. Kitkowski, 19, and carrying three friends who had left a gay party when he invited them to accompany him on a flight, crashed onto the roof of a Brooklyn apartment house and thence to the street after pursuing an erratic, wobbly course over a wide section of Brooklyn and losing one wing when it successfully struck a tree, a church spire and an elevated railway station.
Adam Rowinski, 21, was killed instantly in the crash. Louis Kuhn, 19, and Henry Rochaboski, 19, died a few minutes later. Kitkowski, who holds a limited commercial pilot's license, was so seriously hurt doctors today said he might die.

Scouts To Launch Course At College

Westminster Campus Will Be Scene For New Leadership Studies

Lawrence county's Boy Scout troop leaders—scoutmasters and others interested—will go collegiate, along with Mercer county's leaders, when they open a joint course in the principles of scoutmastership at Westminster College on Wednesday evening, Nov. 15, Scout Executive H. G. Horton announced today.
Executive Horton has for weeks been negotiating with Westminster authorities to inaugurate the training course at such a centrally located point for the leaders of the Lawrence and Mercer county councils.
Dr. Gailbreath Assists
Co-operating with the Scout executive has been Dr. Robert F. Gailbreath, president of the institution and a member of the Lawrence County Boy Scout Council's leader training committee. He is taking an active interest in the launching of the course. Westminster fellows may enroll, it is said.
Since New Wilmington is centrally located between New Castle and Mercer, Mercer county's leaders have also been invited to participate in the college meetings. A competent corps of speakers has been engaged to speak at the weekly sessions, it is said.

MANY ATTEND HOMECOMING

Alumni And Former Students Gather At Westminster Saturday

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Nov. 13.—Despite stormy weather and icy roads, the Homecoming Day of Westminster College on Saturday was easily the biggest day of its kind in years. Former students from all parts of Pennsylvania, from Ohio, New York and West Virginia came back and the warmth of the welcome was in inverse ratio to the frigidity of the day.
All day the fraternity houses were filled with former members dropping in. Receptions were the order of the day and in the various suites, of the Hillside, the girls' sororities held teas and receptions for visiting graduates.
On the football field the Homecoming Day wasn't so much of a success. Over a blanket of ice and snow Westminster and Muskingum battled to a 6-0 win for Muskingum although Westminster deserved a better fate than this. A couple of fumbles, and an inability to buck the ball over from the two yard line spells the story.
In the evening a number of plays were presented and a Homecoming Ball was held in the gymnasium and as large as the gym is, it was hardly large enough for the crowd. From 8:30 to 11:30 the ball was in progress, with members of the Westminster faculty acting as chaperones.
President Gailbreath and the faculty members, as well as the alumni members were delighted with the success of the day. The crowd that came back bespoke an interest in Westminster College that is yearly being demonstrated more and more fully.

Georgia Girl Is Found In Farrell

Plan To Extradite Five To Georgia From Home In Farrell, Pa.

(International News Service)
FARRELL, Pa., Nov. 13.—Attempts to extradite five persons, all of whom are held in jail here on charges of kidnaping, may be started upon arrival of Georgia authorities to question the suspects in regard to the disappearance of a 15-year-old Fitzgerald, Ga., girl.
The girl, Elizabeth Shepherd, vanished last Tuesday, and police allege she was taken to Farrell by the quintet as they were leaving the southern state after a visit with a brother of one of the party.
Those held are Michael Blair, 30, of Wheatland; Mr. and Mrs. George Girga, Farrell, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wiley of Fitzgerald.
Police announced the Shepherd girl was found in the Girga home, where it is alleged she had been staying. Investigation is being made of reports Blair married the girl when it was learned police were seeking her.

Hamm Is Being Well Guarded

Wealthy St. Paul Brewer Is Guarded Night And Day By Police.

FEARS REPRISALS FROM KIDNAPERS

(International News Service)
ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 13.—Lonely in spite of his millions, broken in health in spite of great physicians and guarded by armed men, William Hamm Jr., tries to remember what it is like to be a free man.
The son of St. Paul's great brewing family is not in prison. He is safe from the men who kidnaped him last June—if, as the government contends, those men were Roger Touhy and his three associates now on trial here. Touhy and his men are the ones who are in prison but 40 year old William Hamm has built his own prison—a prison of fear—and he has hired his own jailers to guard him.
Is Well Guarded
Four St. Paul policemen and a house full of private detectives are watching him night and day. He is spending a fortune to guard himself against the men who he fears will kill him because he dared to resent the kidnaping that cost him $100,000. The palatial old home that his grandfather built is a prison and he has chosen to make it so.
The Hamm Brewing company, the Hamm Mercantile Company, Hamm Park the Hamm Building.
The name of Hamm is St. Paul's greatest name. It stands alone here with the name of Hill—the family of James J. Hill, the "Empire Builder" of the great Northern Railroad.
Young Hamm—underneath that lined face, that greying hair, is a handsome, tanned youth who looked 30 years old before those four days last June that turned him into a man of 50—inherited from his father one of the largest fortunes in the Northwest.
Wealthy Man
The victim of St. Paul's most sensational crime is president of the Brewing Company, the Mercantile company and several subsidiaries. He is a director of the First Bank of St. Paul and other leading institutions. He is a member of several clubs. His brewery is the largest in this part of the country.
Friday Hamm threw the Touhy defense into confusion when he stepped down from the witness stand and identified Edward ("Father Tom") McFadden one of the Touhy's three co-defendants as the man who showed him into an automobile on a downtown street in St. Paul at high noon of June 15.
